Millage issue crucial factor in Nov. 5 election

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Voters will head to the polls next Tuesday, Nov. 5 with some crucial issues at stake.

In addition to choosing from among 14 council candidates to fill seven seats and two candidates for the office of treasurer, slated for the ballot are three millage proposals upon which the fate of Romulus' public safety department depends.

Up for public approval are: Proposal I, a one mill for fire operations, Proposal II, three mills for police operations and Proposal III, a temporary two mills for five years for the construction of a new public safety building.

According to figures released throughout the millage campaign, passage of all six mills would mean an additional average annual increase in taxes of $105 to be used only for police and fire protection.

The millage proposals, the first ever to be called for by the council, is the result of the elimination of $164,000 in federal revenue sharing funds.

Up for public approval are: Proposal I, one mill for fire operations, Proposal II, three mills for police operations and Proposal III, a temporary two mills for five years for the construction of a new public safety building.

Ninety percent of the revenue sharing funds went toward operation of the police and fire departments, according to Mayor McAnally. Proposals I and II represent the amount necessary to make up the difference of the loss of the federal money.

After a dismal turnout a four public meeting designed to communicate the need for the six proposed mills, city officials are hoping to gain support from "the very people who will get out and vote," Dennis Davidson, the community relations director said.

"I don't think there's going to be a high voter turnout but we're looking for those people who showed support throughout our campaign to turn up at the polls," he theorized.

In addition to the city-wide campaign to solicit support for the millages, Davidson said he was communicating with the police union about distribution of millage leaflets at the polls Tuesday.

"It would be our last attempt to convince the public of the need for these proposals," he said.

Mayor Beverly McAnally is equally pragmatic about the success of the millage meetings, saying that the entire proposal package was one of "bad timing".

"I had hoped to have the luxury of more time to take this to the people so that they could make informed decisions," she said, "we've done our best to support it but I think we didn't have the time to communicate the need for the millages."

The city council agreed in August to place the proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot rather than postpone the decision.

As a result, some city officials have suggested that there was not enough time or examination of the facts to effectively present the proposals to the community.

As a result, Councilman Barry Baumann concluded that the proposals "would fail miserably".

Baumann was the only council member to vote against placement of the proposals on the ballot.

The most hotly-debated proposal has been whether construction of a new police facility is needed.

According to Insp. John Lewis, the city is currently renting their present building from the school district on a yearly basis.

Housed in vacant elementary school, fire and police officers currently maintain operations in a building once declared unfit for school children.

The site of the proposed construction of the $2.5 million police facility is five acres of land near city hall.

If the millages fail, Mayor McAnally warned at the meetings, budget cuts in other service areas would be necessary to maintain the police and fire departments.

McAnally said she was considering several options if the proposals fail but declined to be specific.

Profiles of Romulus candidates running for the offices of mayor, clerk, treasurer and city council can be found on pages 4-A and 5-A inside.

Elected officials receive raises

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus elected city officials will experience a pay increase ranging from 15.7 percent to 22.8 percent beginning at the swearing in of the new administration Nov. 12.

Based upon recommendations by the Romulus Officers Compensation Commission at meetings in August and September, the offices of the mayor, city clerk and treasurer will receive the first pay increase since the last election in 1983.

The positions of council member and mayor pro tem last received an increase of $600 in 1977.

The commission meets every two years to determine what rate increases, if any, will be applied to elected officials pay.

The commission cannot lower the pay scale of any elected official while that person is still in office, according to the clerk's office.

According to the pay scale recommended by the commission, the mayor will receive a pay increase of $4,353. Currently, Mayor Beverly McAnally receives a salary of $27,647.

The increase represents a 15.7 percent raise.

The city clerk will gross an extra $5,020, a 22.8 percent increase in her present salary of $21,980. After the increase, that position will gross $27,000 annually.

The treasurer will receive an increase identical to that of the clerk.

A $900 increase for council members, from $3,600 to $4,500, represents a 25 percent raise for those offices while the position of mayor pro tem will gross a 21.95 percent increase.

The position of mayor pro tem grosses $4,100 annually and will rise to $5,000 as a result of the recommendations by the commission.

It's sooo scaarry!

The Allen Park Moose Lodge and the Romulus Girls' Softball Team gathered to create a "haunted" forest at Par Golf Range on Ecorse Road.

The spooky doings ended Monday for the participants; to prevent truly scary goings-on for parents and children, however, the McDonald's restaurant on Wayne Road (across from the high school) will be inspecting Halloween candy from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Oct. 31. The inspection includes metal detection, and is sponsored in conjunction with the Co-op Students and the ROTC Reserve.

Khoury remains on police payroll

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A group of citizens Monday night called for the removal of a Romulus police officer from the city payroll pending his acquittal or conviction in circuit court for the June death of a resident.

Shortly afterward, the council chambers were closed for an executive session to discuss the matter and in a motion by Fred Junior Block, supported by Barry Baumann, the council decided to continue pay for Khoury until Jan. 7, 1986.

At that time, based upon a physician's approval, he would be returned to work in an unarmed capacity.

The new agreement will continue until a court decision is rendered.

Khoury has been receiving an average 40-hour work week pay of $321.49 since the June incident, according to the check register in the Treasurer's Office.

The group, named Concerned Citizens for Justice, asked the city council to discontinue pay to Officer James Khoury, who was charged in September with manslaughter in the death of James Hester, 25.

"We...request...that the elected officials cease and desist from using our tax dollars to pay the salary of Police Officer Jim Khoury....," Debra Street told the council.

Street, along with Dorothy Weekly, helped spearhead the campaign to remove Khoury from the police payroll.

She presented the council with a petition signed by 349 residents and asked that members reveal how they voted in the Khoury pay issue.

Street was met with silence by most council members who were uncertain about the legal ramifications of discussing a personnel matter in public.

"There are two things at stake here," responded the city attorney, Barry Seifman. "The first being the criminal prosecution and we don't want anything to affect that. Secondly, we have a civil suit where our city is being sued for an incident arising out of that situation.

"Thirdly, a contract with the policeman's association says that certain rules and hearing rights have to be adhered to."

Seifman told group members that Khoury had requested that any "discussions be handled in private" in accordance with a state public hearing act.

"How do we, as tax payers, recover our money if (Khoury) is found guilty?" Weekly asked. "All we want to know is why are we still paying him?"

According to council records of payment of the city's payroll, including the police department, Khoury has remained off duty with pay since June. The last payment was issued on Oct. 19.

Police Chief Donald Flood said in June that it was department policy to suspend with pay any officer involved in a criminal investigation.

The city council, in June, agreed to continue payment to Khoury until a preliminary hearing was held.

Khoury's preliminary examination was held on Aug. 27 and Sept. 12 after which he was bound over to circuit court on charges of manslaughter and felony firearm.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry told the audience that the council had failed to address the pay issue after the exam ruling yet still authorized payment Oct. 14.

"What (the group) is asking you is whether you're still paying him," Raspberry told his fellow council members.

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks affirmed that Khoury was currently on the city's payroll.

"But it was my understanding that this matter was to be discussed in executive session."

Toxic landfill operator sues Huron for 1983-84 millage

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A Detroit-based solid waste landfill operator has filed suit in circuit court asking that all monies collected from a millage designed to fight the company's proposed toxic landfill be returned.

Environmental Management Systems, shortly after losing a legal battle with the Department of Natural Resources, filed suit with Judge James Kallman of the Ingham Circuit Court questioning whether a special millage levied against Huron Township residents was legal.

The two-year millage, passed by vote of township residents in 1983 and collected with the winter taxes in 1983 and 1984, was used to organize citizen resistance to a proposed EMS facility on a 300 acre site on the northeast corner of the intersection of I-275 and Will Carleton Road in Huron.

According to township clerk, Vicki Lyons, the millage netted $380,000 of which "not a large amount has been expended."

The Huron Valley Citizen Association was established at that time to rally support for denial of the toxic landfill and has remained active.

Bob Ufer, attorney for EMS, said Monday that the lawsuit involves the issue of whether the millage passed is in direct conflict with Public Act 64, a law preempting public regulation of a toxic waste facility.

According to Ufer, that authority "rests with the state and federal governments and not with the township."

"It is our position it's not a proper millage," he added.

In addition, Ufer said, at the time the millage was levied, EMS had an option agreement on the land proposed for the construction of the landfill and in effect, "paid taxes" toward a measure designed to "fight against itself."

"As far as I know, they have not paid taxes and their names are not down on our tax roles,"

Lyons explained. "Prior to this year, when we saw a name change on one parcel of land, EMS did not pay taxes."

"In order to avoid someone essentially demanding an exorbitant price you use different individuals or corporations."

Suspect held in alleged rape

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A prominent Romulus official allegedly filed a complaint Oct. 27 with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department claiming that he was abducted from a bar, sexually molested, stripped of his clothing and personal identification and left stranded at the side of a road in Ypsilanti Township after his assailant drove off in the victim's vehicle.

Police in Ypsilanti Township and Ann Arbor, where the incident allegedly took place, refuse to divulge the victim's name, citing a recently instituted state victim's protection act.

Reliable sources contacted by Associated Newspapers, though, indicated that the victim was a male Romulus resident.

The incident, which occurred at approximately 1:45 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, is considered to be the result of an alleged homosexual attack on the individual.

The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Tuesday confirmed that the victim managed to seek help at a local residence in Pittsfield Township, the town adjacent to the area alleged to have been the scene of the reported attack.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Det. Lloyd Stamper said that the individual was able to obtain clothing and contact the police from the Pittsfield address.

Stamper said Tuesday that a warrant has been issued for a suspect currently being held in Ohio.

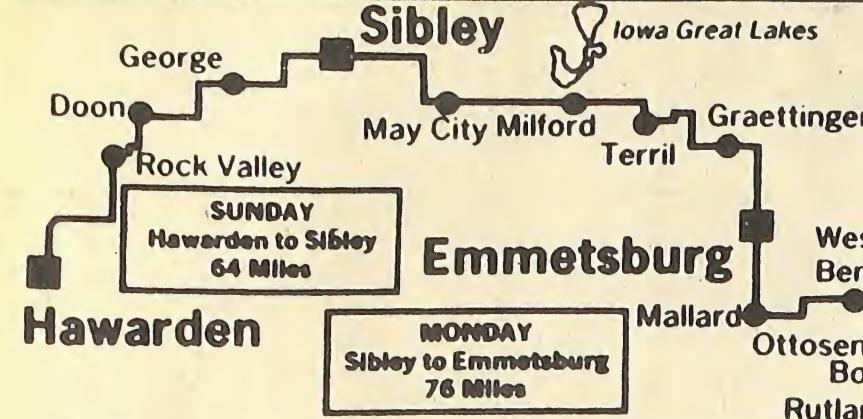

Other sources confirmed that a white male is being held for questioning in the alleged incident.

Authorities will attempt to transfer the suspect to Michigan by Thursday, Oct. 31 at which time he will be arraigned in district court in Ypsilanti Township on charges of armed robbery and first degree criminal sexual conduct, according to Stamper.

The suspect was apparently stopped by Ohio police after a BOL (Be On the Lookout) was issued by Michigan police.

He was apparently found driving the victim's vehicle.

Ann Arbor authorities, in conjunction with Ypsilanti Township police, are investigating the alleged abduction.

Uneasy Rider:

D'Arcy crosses country by the seat of his pants

By SUE McDONALD
ANP Editor

"Hello. My name is Ann D'Arcy and I have been calling folks all across the state of Iowa making sleeping arrangements for my husband Dennis..."

When most people take trips, they have a travel agent handle the specifics...transportation, accommodations, sightseeing and whatever else that needs to be done. But then the trip Dennis D'Arcy took this summer wasn't what you would call run of the mill.

The 55-year-old Wayne resident, fondly known as "Mr. D" by the employees and members of the Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union, discovered the world of cycling, thanks to former credit union board member James Swinford, and as he describes it, "in a moment of insanity" plunked down $15 to ride in the Des Moines Register's 13th annual Ragbrai, a 541-mile, seven-day, trek across northern Iowa this summer.

Swinford managed to get D'Arcy excited about cycling and after some prodding, got him to enter the YMCA's Camp Storer cloverleaf marathon in 1984.

D'Arcy bought a 15-speed bicycle and set up a training program for the ride to get accustomed to the bike's saddle, but not soon enough for the fundraising race. He completed only 30 miles of the 100-mile marathon.

At the time of the marathon he weighed 276 pounds and had every intention of continuing his bicycling. He didn't...at least until his wife read about the Ragbrai and he signed up.

In April, when he knew he was going to do it, he began a program of dieting and riding to get ready for the trip. He rode as many as five days a week, some days as far as 50 miles. By the time he was ready for the trip to Hawarden in the northwest corner of Iowa he was down to 235 pounds and in shape to pedal his way across Iowa on a new 10-speed.

Making the trip with him was Donald Felt, a mail carrier at the Wayne Post Office.

According to D'Arcy, the ride basically is to sell the cyclists on Iowa. Riders weren't allowed to start the ride before sunrise and had to complete the day's trek by sundown.

The Ragbrai is a big event in Iowa; towns compete to have the trip past through their environ. And when a town earns that honor, it literally rolls out the red carpet for the cyclists. According to D'Arcy, civic in which D'Arcy is active. She contacted Chambers of Commerce for suggestions and was able to come up with lodging for six of the eight nights.

To smooth out introductions in each town, she came up with a letter of introduction that provided his "adopted" families with a history from the day he was born. "Dennis was born and raised in the Detroit area. He was born on 'Black Tuesday,' Oct. 29, (the day the stock market fell). He says it was years before he realized that it was the stock market his parents were referring to and not his birth."

D'Arcy didn't anticipate the reception he got in each town. In some homes he was provided with the master bedroom, and almost all made certain he had everything he needed to freshen up and get ready for the day's ride.

"We checked into a motel in Las Vegas, and I figured I'd corrupt Harry's morals at the casinos, but after three hours he was ready to go."

— Dennis D'Arcy

groups would sponsor reasonably priced dinners for the entourage. Another group would be up bright and early to provide a breakfast sendoff.

According to D'Arcy, towns people would turn out to greet the riders as they came into town at night. Along the route during the day, youngsters would line the roads, hoses ready to cool off the passing riders. And if you didn't eat breakfast in town, he explained, you could count on finding a food stand set up 10 to 15 miles down the road.

Many of the rides camped in each of the towns, but many like D'Arcy found accommodations with families, who gladly opened their homes to the visitors. Dennis' wife Anne happened on the idea of him staying with families in each town, either Rotarians or Amway distributors, two groups

The toughest part of the ride came between Humboldt and Mason City, when the riders traversed 97 miles in just one day's time. He figures that by the time he got to his guest house that night he had exceeded 100 miles—counting an extra six miles to retrieve his night bag at the staging area before riding back to the house.

D'Arcy admits that he'd make the ride again—"I'd leave today"—and that again "in a moment of insanity" had signed up for next year's ride. But, he says, he will do it differently. He will take a smaller camera, leave his tent at home and pack fewer clothes.

D'Arcy's travelling adventures didn't end with the Ragbrai. Within three weeks he was on his way to California, this time on a motorcycle.

The D'Arcys' 17-year-old son Harry had decided to complete

Wearing a new $100 pair of cowboy boots and his first pair of blue jeans, D'Arcy set off with his 17-year-old son Harry for a cross-country trek to California just three weeks after finishing the Ragbrai. The adventurous twosome took in Las Vegas, crossed the sweltering Mojave Desert and were awed by Bryce Canyon and the beauty of Colorado and Utah.

his senior year of high school with an aunt in California, but he didn't want to leave his new Honda Nighthawk motorcycle at home. Not wanting him to make the trip alone, D'Arcy decided to accompany him on his son's 750 Honda.

The trip almost didn't get off the ground. Just a few miles from home D'Arcy's motorcycle snapped a chain and cracked the engine housing. Undaunted, D'Arcy bought a similar motorcycle from a neighbor and by 2 p.m. that afternoon they were on their way to the West Coast.

"From here to Colorado the land is flat, but once you get past the 'Welcome to Colorado' sign the road started going up," he explained. "After going through Colorado and Utah on a motorcycle, I can understand what the kids mean when they say awesome."

"Harry had never seen anything like it. It was such an experience for him and to share it with his father..."

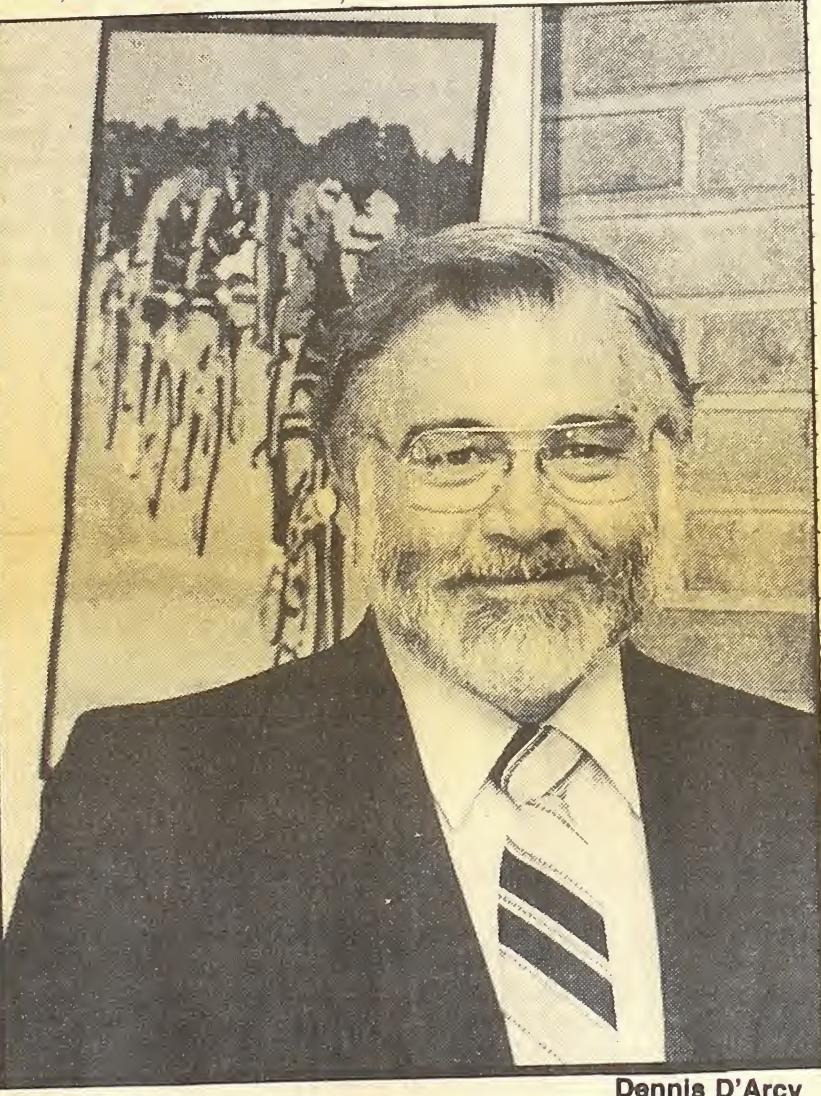

They ran into thunderstorms, took in the casinos at Las Vegas, were awed by Bryce Canyon and crossed the desert in temperatures in excess of 100 degrees.

"We checked into a motel in Las Vegas, and I figured I'd corrupt Harry's morals at the casinos," D'Arcy said, "but after three hours he was ready to go."

They crossed the Mojave Desert night air was so warm it degree weather in Las Vegas, and D'Arcy admits that the desert night air was so warm it was uncomfortable on their arms.

With the Ragbrai behind him D'Arcy has not lost his enthusiasm for cycling—in terms of what it can do for him in weight loss and stamina. Nor has his interest in motorcycles waned. He'd like to get a larger one and take the northern route to California with his wife.

To that she responds: "Don't do that; you're getting me excited."

facility in January 1984 and was subsequently rejected by the DNR because the application was "administratively incomplete."

A second application was sent to the DNR in July 1985 and because of a copyright provision in the application that prevented the department from disseminating information to the public, it was again rejected.

A lawsuit was filed Sept. 9 against the department by EMS asking that Judge Kallman place a restraining order requiring the DNR to reinstitute its review of the application submitted in July.

The injunction was removed Oct. 16 with the court finding no proper basis for EMS claims.

According to LaBelle, the court found that the "DNR (had) acted neither unreasonably or unlawfully in its treatment of (EMS)."

"Indeed," the ruling read, "it appears that the plaintiff's own actions have caused its difficulty."

In essence, LaBelle said, the court found that EMS had "failed to comply with DNR requirements."

RE-ELECT BILL WADSWORTH
ROMULUS CITY COUNCIL

Dear Romulus Resident:

In 1983 when you elected me to the City Council, I vowed to vote fair on all issues placed before me, always keeping in mind the needs of the citizens first. I believe I have.

During the 11 years I worked Romulus as a Police Officer, I feel I know and understand the problems, needs and wants of the citizens, from the youngest to the seniors.

My wife Virginia and I have lived in Romulus for 18 years. Our sons attend school in Romulus and we think it is a fine community to raise a family.

During my first term we saw many positive things happen, the opening of a new Post Office, paving of new roads, new outdoor skating rinks for our children, Wick Road Development and the start of Cable TV. Many things are still undone and I ask for your support for a second term.

Biography

1. How do you feel about the progress or lack of progress made by Barden Cablevision?

I am not satisfied. I'm not trying to place fault but I think times have changed and cable is not such a red-hot issue anymore. I think that (Barden) bit off more than he could chew.

The Romulus Cable Commission reached an agreement with approval of the council--this should resolve remaining issues.

I am not satisfied with Barden's progress to date. At this point, there is not much more the city council can do about it--Barden isn't the only cable company giving a community a hard time; there are other cities with (similar) problems.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Looking at the facts as they are, Barden accepted our bid after another company let us down. Barden complied with the franchise agreement and paid the city a $50,000 fee for the privilege of constructing a cable system in Romulus.

I go to a lot of council meetings and I understand that (Barden) is a little slow but there is not much we can do about it now.

I am not at all satisfied with Barden. I did not vote for the awarding of the franchise in 1982 to Barden and I still believe the city made a bad mistake. I believe the company has put our city on the back burner while it attempted to secure the Detroit contract.

2. What are your feelings on the three millage proposals slated for the Nov. 5 General Election?

If we are to continue the level of service we now have, we simply have to have more money. I had hopes of having the luxury of time to present this properly to the people. As it is, we've done our best to communicate the need to the people for the millages.

The citizens and taxpayers will make the final decision.

I know there is a need for all three proposals but I think the city is asking for too much at one time. I think it would have been better to go for one or two proposals first and then in a couple years, go for a new building.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

The millages will be necessary to continue to operate (the) police and fire departments. True, the amount of millage placed on the ballot will not completely pay for the operations of either department, but it is hoped the rest of the money can be made up through additional revenue from new construction in the city.

Nobody likes their taxes raised, as far as I'm concerned, if federal funds are going to be cut, we have to have a police and fire department funded by the millages.

I disapprove of the millages. For one thing, (the) council acted to hastily in placing them on the ballot. No significant discussions were held with the finance department, police or fire chiefs. If we are going to ask the people to raise their taxes, we'd better be damn sure of what we are going to give them for it.

3. Examine the potential for industrial growth within the city versus preserving Romulus as a residential community?

I think the zoning map speaks more eloquently to this issue. The majority of vacant property was zoned for industrial regional center and commercial and has to do with damage done to the city with aircraft expressways and railroads. In my opinion, it's only sensible that you pursue the realization of the Master Plan. There are some areas that I think would be excellent for fine housing and I'm looking forward for the opportunity to provide living settings for the people.

Unless changes are made in the Master (Plan) and zoning code, the growth of industry will not disturb our residential community.

There are some areas of Romulus that can not be used for anything other than industrial (development), such as near the airport. I think we should let new industry come in--on the other hand we must protect our residential areas.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Because the airport is located in the middle of our city, there are areas in the flight paths which are not conducive to residential living. These areas are a natural location for industry and business and I encourage the development of these designated areas.

Industrial growth is good as long as that growth does not overcome our residential areas.

I believe that the industrial growth the city has achieved in the last few years...has been beneficial. But I think we ought to begin actively seeking commercial growth. Also, I think we can afford some new housing developments.

sion," she countered.

Almost immediately, discussion from the council ceased, except for Councilman Fred Junior Block's comment that "we're going to have to pay (Khoury) anyway."

"I'm glad this happened during election time," Weekly said after the meeting. "I have a problem with Mr. Block's comment."

Hester was a resident of the Birch Run Apartments on Garner Rd. in Romulus when Khoury responded to a fight in progress between Hester and another resident.

Hester was shot in the left temple by Khoury in what the officer latter testified was self-defense.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office issued a warrant for Khoury's arrest in August. A preliminary hearing ruling by Canton's 34-District Judge James Garber sent Khoury's case to circuit court.

A January trial date has been tentatively set, according to Wayne County Prosecutor Jess Swartz.

ANOTHER

Paid for by Baumann Re-Election Committee
10939 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174

Alan R. Lambert

Lambert was first elected to council in 1981 and was subsequently reelected in 1983. Attempting his third term at age 30, he said he (sees) a lot of things that need attention and he would like to try and resolve the city's problems. In addition to keeping taxes low, Lambert, too, sees growth and development of the community as a high priority.

Judith Ellis

In her first attempt for public office, Ellis brings with her 21 years of residency to back her. At age 40, she is presently employed at Multi-Communications in Livonia as a bookkeeper. If she is elected to council, the growth of both industrial and residential areas in the city would be her major concerns.

Marie Diane DeBuysscher

Now that she no longer works for the city, DeBuysscher would like the opportunity to work for the citizens. As past Romulus Recreation Director from 1970-71 and 1972-79, DeBuysscher's employment with the city prevented her from actively seeking a council position. Now that both she and a family member no longer work for the city, at age 55, DeBuysscher feels she is qualified because of her work experience with the city and senior citizens.

Noah Pete Bergeron

With his background in the financial area, Bergeron feels he would be an asset to the city if elected to a third term as councilmember. Currently employed as a financial planner at Individual Financial Planning in New Boston, he helped the city set up an fund for liability insurance which saved Romulus thousands of dollars. At age 34, he is currently the city's representative to the People's Community Hospital Authority, a position he has held for six years.

William J. Wadsworth

A councilmember since 1983, Wadsworth said his concerns are "protecting the interests of the citizens" and making sure that tax dollars are spent correctly. He is currently a sergeant with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department working out of Detroit Metro Airport. Wadsworth, 41, said his college degree in criminal justice grants him the experience to better understand the workings of government.

Fred Junior Block

Fred Junior Block, at age 61, is vying for his eighth term in office, having served 14 years on the city council. He is self-employed at Block Implement, a tire machinery business. Block said he believes he can help his community even further by running for council again.

Ellis Pennington

As a former township trustee in 1966 and city councilmember later, Pennington chose to run again to "help see each and every person in this city get representation". At 58, he feels having served as a trustee for four years and councilmember for three qualifies him for another term in office.

Theodore W. Jacques

A candidate for state representative in 1980, 1982 and 1984, Jacques has turned his attention to local government, though not for the first time. At 39, he has run unsuccessfully in prior elections. Currently employed at General Motor's Fisher Body plant as an industrial machine repairer and attended Henry Ford Community College. He was a state convention delegate from 1981-1984.

Melvin Zilka

Having never run for an elected position before, Zilka chose to run for council member because "Romulus needs some new input and fresh ideas". At 49, and having lived in the city for 27 years, he feels he knows the concerns and issues of the community. Retired from the Wayne County Road Commission as an inspector and project supervisor, Zilka will bring his experience in dealing with the public.

I guess at first I wasn't really happy with Barden but if they continue working like they have been the last three months, I can say I'm satisfied.

I am not satisfied with Barden. I do not believe they have done a satisfactory job at this time.

I voted for Barden Cablevision because at that time there was a lack of interest (exhibited) by other cable t.v. companies bidding in Romulus. As long as (Barden) continues to make progress, we really don't have much of a choice.

I have not been a supporter of Barden, however, we have given (Barden) an extension. It seems he has buckled down and the city is very close to having cable t.v.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Jacques said he was not satisfied with Barden Cablevision due to the company's "poor performance" to date.

I am very disappointed in Barden Cablevision's performance to date. This apparent lack of progress by (the company) raises doubts in my mind concerning the reliability of the company.

If people want good, adequate police and fire protection, it's going to have to be up to them to approve the millages. That's why we are bringing it before them.

The millages for the police and fire are needed. Currently, the police department is working in an old school building that was once labeled unfit for our school children.

One of the reasons I voted to bring these millage proposals to the people was to allow them to have the choice of approving or rejecting them. I do think, though, that it is about time that we put together a public safety package.

I have reservations about any new taxes for services at this time. However, I feel it is good to place (the millage proposals) on the ballot so the people can voice their own opinions. I am against any new building--if the present one is inadequate, there are other alternatives.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Citing high taxes already levied against citizens, he "disapproves" of the three millage proposals.

I am convinced that the Romulus Police Department is in desperate need of a new facility. If action is not taken in the near future, we will be forced with exorbitant construction costs farther down the road. I cannot support Proposals A and B.

I think every city has to grow, both industrially and residentially, provided it's contained within the proper boundaries. It's important to have this growth.

Romulus has enough area that it could grow both industrially and residentially. There should be a Master Plan to keep the industry from creeping into the residential areas.

Industrial growth is necessary because of the need for the tax base but it should be contained in specific areas so that residents (are) not disturbed.

Romulus will never be a residential community because of the airport, expressways and railroads. We cut up too much of (the city) as it is already. I am for planning Romulus' future very carefully by taking making sure the citizens have an adequate lifestyle.

Industry is necessary for progress in most communities. (It) will always be with us (but) there must be a sensitivity to the people that live in these communities.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Candidate did not respond to this question.

Jacques did not respond to the question on industrial versus residential growth.

Romulus can be both a residential and an industrial community. However, I strongly feel that the guidelines set forth by the Master Plan be followed as closely as possible.

tions," he said.

Both Lyons and the township's attorney, Debra LaBelle, agreed that if EMS had used this technique, it would be difficult to determine if the company paid taxes in 1983 and 1984.

"I'm not aware of what different corporate entities, at this time, that EMS has purchased property through," LaBelle said. "We will probably find that out."

LaBelle said the township, in a counter claim against EMS last week, was seeking to show that the company "failed to state a legitimate claim and was not entitled to relief because there is no real basis in law for the relief they are seeking."

In addition, she said, the township denied allegations set forth by EMS that it acted improperly in levying the taxes.

"We are trying to show that (EMS) cannot tell the township what to do with their tax dollars," LaBelle explained. "A lot of people pay taxes at the federal, state and local levels and some of that money goes towards things we may not all be happy about."

The counterclaim further states that the company is attempting to improperly locate the landfill in a flood plain.

Public Act 64 stipulates that a landfill cannot be located on a flood plain, as is currently the status of the land proposed for the toxic site.

EMS had previously applied for relocation of the Duffin and Winnie Drain which surrounds the perimeter of the site.

A public hearing Oct. 22 was designed to solicit comments about the relocation. The drain, situated on the flood plain, has to be moved before an Act 64 can be issued.

Public Act 64 is a hazardous waste construction permit.

"The suit didn't surprise us--in fact, it wouldn't surprise us if we got more suits," Lyons said. "It's a bizarre case."

Next Tuesday is one of the most important days in the lives of all our local residents. While many will ignore the precious right that is theirs on this day, others will go to the polls and choose the leaders who will determine the course of the municipalities in which they live.

They will choose the leaders who will establish the rate of local tax millage they pay...the people responsible, ultimately, for the proper police and fire protection of their homes...men and women who will bring respect or infamy to the name of the community in which they serve.

Communities have the local governments they deserve. Exercise your right and vote...you deserve it.

Our choices for the municipalities we serve would be:

Belleville...

Knowledgeable in the ways of government thanks to her vast experience, Burma Wertz, is the right person to serve as the Mayor of Belleville.

Wertz is aggressive and has served the city well as a council member and Mayor Pro Tem and she deserves an opportunity to move into the mayor's office to pursue the programs and the projects that will help revitalize the downtown central business area and make Belleville a more viable community for all of its citizens.

We also recommend that voters give their approval to Charles Niemann and E. W. Jack Ferrett for council for terms that will expire in 1987. Both candidates have credentials that merit their election to the offices.

Also, Richard S. Smith and Josephine Chapman will serve Belleville's interest best. We recommend that they be elected to the seats that will expire in 1989.

Romulus...

resident and her participation in Romulus clubs and committees, in addition to her involvement with elderly citizens, would add a much-needed voice of the seniors to council discussions.

Noah (Pete) Bergeron should be given a fourth term as council member because his experience as a financial advisor contributes depth to the council's discussions of fiscal matters.

As a financial planner, Bergeron's ability to interpret what others on the council often cannot immediately comprehend has proved invaluable.

William J. Wadsworth, another incumbent, wins our approval for a second term.

As a sergeant with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Wadsworth brings to the council a grasp of things from the airport's point-of-view, sometimes a much-needed perspective for council members and citizens.

Though we often hesitate to endorse individuals who have little experience for the office that they seek, we would make one exception in selecting Melvin Zilka.

As an articulate spokesperson for the citizenry, Zilka has continually demonstrated his concern by his attendance at council meetings, and, during these past months, at his attendance during the city-sponsored millage meetings. His presence was hard to miss since so few individuals found it necessary to participate.

For one whose only experience with the public begins and ends with the Wayne County Road Commission, Zilka's motive for running and his response to the city's problems is unique.

Wayne...

While we are impressed with the genuine desire to serve and the civic spirit of all the candidates in this election, we can only choose four to serve the people of Wayne. Those four would have the be the incumbents, Patrick Norton, Robert Beeney, Charles West and Thomas Kelly.

While the other hopefuls are in some cases qualified, this slate of leaders has provided exemplary management of the city, and exhibited a level of cooperation, concern and consideration which ranks Wayne high on the list of the best managed communities in the state. It is difficult to even contemplate changing a formula as successful as this one has proven.

Westland...

Westland citizens deserve a man like Charles Griffin for mayor. He is dedicated, hard-working, sincere and truthful candidate. Griffin has managed to maintain his credibility and his integrity in spite of the nearly insurmountable difficulties of the present administration.

Along with Griffin, we would select Kenneth Mehl, A. Kent Herbert, and William Ziembra for council seats. Our fourth choice is more difficult due to the strong political ties many of the other candidates have to the incumbent mayor. We would, after much deliberation, give the nod to Chuck Menzies. Of the field of candidates, he would appear to be the most able to fulfill the needs of the people of Westland working in cooperation and harmony with the new mayor and council.

'A day in Lansing'

I once heard a politician describe Lansing as "Six square miles...surrounded by reality!" With that in mind, Susan and I set out last Friday for a journey to where "no mortal has gone before", that forbidden zone known as Lansing.

Our day in Lansing, actually turned out to be a half-day at the state capitol, thanks to some more computer snafus with our glorious new technological whiz-bang system, but that's another story. We did however manage to arrive in time for one of the high-lights of the day...lunch.

Our outing was in conjunction with the Michigan Press Association Government conference staged to allow us newspaper folk to become better acquainted with the ins and outs of state government.

Two buses were in front of the capitol upon our arrival, ready to whisk our merry band of publishers and journalists off toward the Wharton Center. On the way, we were treated to a cook's tour of the campus by a member of the Michigan State University staff as our buses meandered across the MSU campus on a beautiful fall day.

We passed the president's home, dorms, the museum and various structures which make the MSU campus the elegant blend of the old and new that it is. The Wharton Center, named after past university president Clifton Wharton and his wife, Dolores, was completed in 1982, so we were told.

Inside we were served lunch and addressed by new MSU president John DiBiaggio, a man obviously proud of his Italian ancestry. DiBiaggio, is an articulate and Charismatic spokesman who charmed his audience with stories, anecdotes, and impressive facts. As an example, I did not know that MSU has produced two Rhodes scholars in the last year alone. In so doing they beat out not only the University of Michigan, but almost all other schools nationally including such prestigious universities as Yale, MIT, and Stanford.

After breaking bread, we had a chance to view the main auditorium, which is set up for performances by the national road company of the Broadway musical "42nd Street". The magnificent facility reminded me of New York's Radio City Musical Hall.

Back on the bus, we began our journey back to the domed twilight zone. Governor Jim was on his way back to his office and stopped to visit with some of our group just at the foot of the Capitol steps.

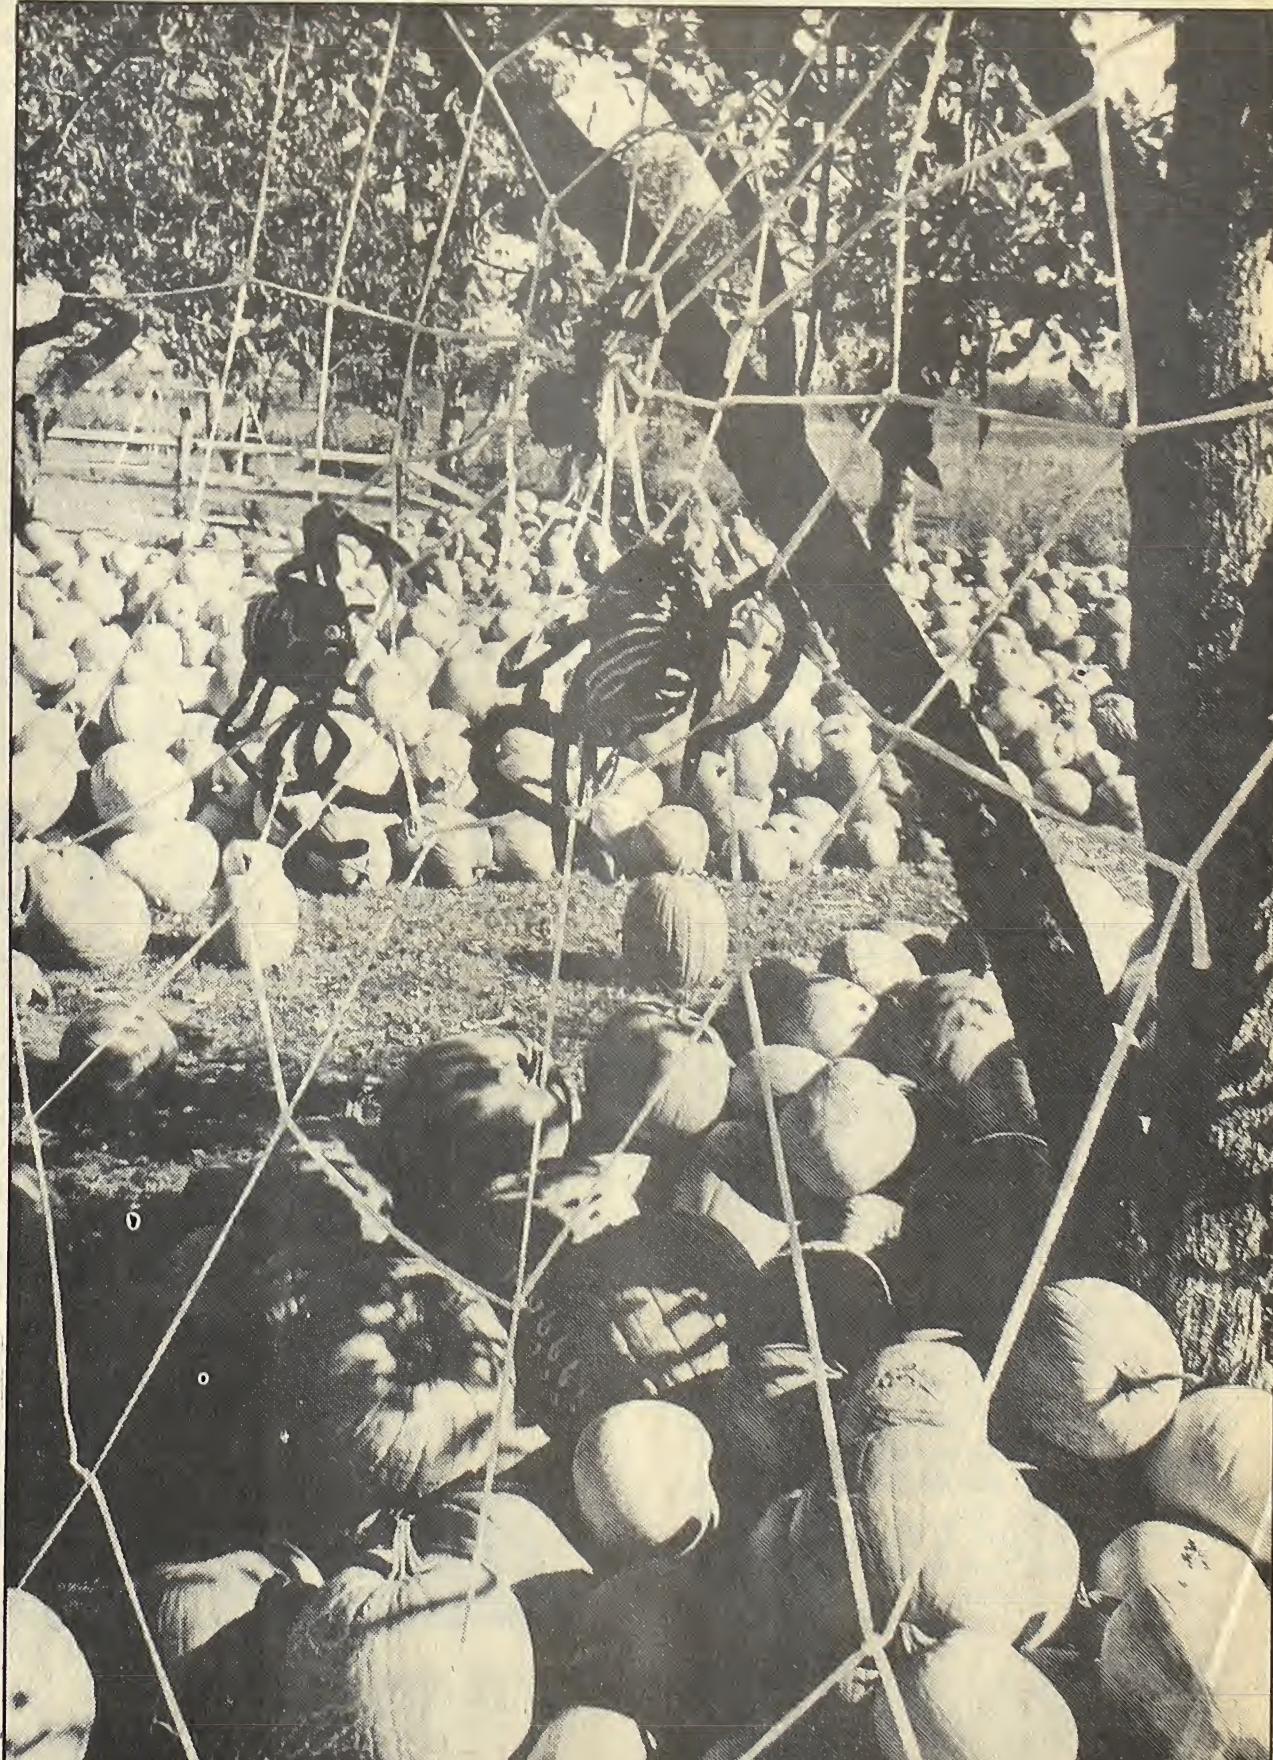

Inside in the briefing room, State Director of Labor Betty Howe addressed our group, on a subject near and dear to all, namely, workers' comp. I like ole' Betty, she's down-to-earth and obviously high on what it is she is about, which is more than I could be. Betty told us that she graduated from MSU with a degree in advertising, worked for a community newspaper, cable TV, entered the political world by working on Blanchard's campaign and was tapped to head the Labor Department. She confesses that many have labored her appointment as pure politics, but she strikes me as one cut out for what these days must be a most challenging pursuit.

After commenting briefly on several topical subjects, including MESC's computer fiasco (tell me about it), she told us in bottom line fashion concerning workers' comp that we "have two workers' comp programs, both of which we will be funding for awhile".

Betty turned the floor over to Thomas Plunkett, a recent addition to her staff who has worked on worker's comp cases for many years. "There are many ways in which the interests of workers and employers' interest are the same," he suggested. In a conciliatory fashion, he seems to advocate, shall we say, strength through unity, which is not an easy task in Michigan. Confessing the difficulty of the challenge, he commented, "I always thought that someday I'd have a heart attack (from the pressures of his career as an attorney). Then I got this job, and decided that I would go crazy long before I had a

O'Leary blasts Romulus officials

To the Editor:

It was with a mixture of ironic amusement and bewilderment that I read Dave Willett's "Flying Solo" column in the Oct. 23 issue of Associated Newspapers. It was nothing intrinsic to Dave's fine column that amazed me, but rather the mention of a matter I had quite a bit to do with and the way it was mentioned.

According to the column, Dave Willett was questioned by members of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce (read: "important people in the community") about "sitting" on a story last year to cooperate with members of the Michigan State Police.

The story in question had to do with the arrest of 31 men, 12 of them in the education field, for allegedly making homosexual "come-ons" to undercover officers.

I was the author of that story, a story which was broken in Associated Newspapers, and within 24-hours I had been contacted at the office by three local television stations and one (or was it both?) Detroit dailies, playing what is called in news circles "catch-up."

It was a story that had taken nearly two weeks of investigating reporting on my part. The story was not printed before it was, simply because until that point in time, as Willett points out, my facts had yet to be confirmed. For the record, the other news media that used the story as their lead story for three consecutive nights seemed to have a different - and wrong - story each time. Why? Because they lacked the time to check the facts and, in my opinion, were rushed.

"Weeklies" aren't supposed to break major stories; the television newscasters and "Daily" writers needed a new angle. They took my story and changed a few things around (in my opinion). Two of the three television newscasts had the courtesy to give the paper credit by flashing the front page of the Romulus Roman onscreen for a moment. The other informed us, after asking where we got our information and all, that no, they could not give us any credit. They been working on the same story for three weeks.

Right...

But I digress. What prompted me to write this letter was the obvious hypocritical people that had the gall to even ask such a question.

Following the story - for which I and ANP won an honorable mention award from the Michigan Press Association - there were numerous bullet holes in the doors and windows of the office. I received "anonymous" hate letters, my favorite of which was signed "Drop dead, sir."

More obvious still was the tone of certain high ranking members of the City of Romulus. It seemed every politician or shop owner had a friend who worked with . . . you get the idea. People I had never met talked me down to others, saying personal things about me every chance they had - which meant when I wasn't around.

Now, it seems that these same people, who were "appalled and disgusted" with the newspaper running the story are wondering why we didn't run it sooner.

I am working at a different newspaper now (by choice; financial not personal). Sue and Dave are very good people and I value their friendship. I miss the people around the office. What I don't miss are the two-faced politicians and recognizable "public servants" that are as shallow, bitter and hypocritical as any I have ever had the misfortune to encounter. Goodbye Romulus. Too bad your leaders don't have the backbone to lead the residents to the much better fates than you will. They deserve better.

Steve O'Leary

Accident coverage criticized

To the Editor:

I am very angered by the recent article in the Wayne Eagle about the fatal accident occurring between Venoy and Merriam Roads on Van Born on Oct. 12. It involved my brother John McNeer, who was killed.

John had lived in this area all his life. He was a Wayne County Sheriff and was highly respected. The article in your paper was very cold. Why must the public only learn of fatal accidents? Does it make for good reading material?

The case is still under investigation, so why is information being given to the press. I feel the only reason is that a Wayne Police Officer had seen the accident. No one knows why this accident occurred and John is no longer here to defend himself.

I also feel that because he is a Wayne County Sheriff, that this is being run into the ground for unnecessary reasons.

Your paper or the writer of the article took in no consideration that this paper came out on the day of my brother's funeral. No consideration for the feelings of the family was seen here.

Will this help bring my brother back? No it won't and it also makes my brother seem the culprit. If it was his fault what good will it do.

Applefest contributors win praise

To the Editor:

Did you know that - The 1985 Apple Pie Contest was a tremendous success with 29 pies entered in the competition. The judges, Joe Carney, Ralph Rakotz, and Elmer Hall said they not only looked good but they all tasted delicious and their decision was a real tough one.

Our thanks to Junior Block for all the help he gave us. His talent as an auctioneer added much excitement for all of us, not to mention the money he helped us to raise for our "1986 Applefest". Romulus is lucky to have Mr. Block and his community-minded spirit and of course, HURON appreciates all of their "good neighbors".

The first place winners of a blue ribbon and $50 each were: JONI PRENTICE - single crust pie, and EMILY PUCH - double crust pie. We congratulate each of you and thank all other contestants for their efforts and donations. A job well done!

(The M.C., Joe Prater, enjoyed helping Junior Block with the auctioning of all the All-American-Pies, but would like to volunteer now to be a "judge" next year..)

chance to have a heart attack. It was then I realized, I was already crazy."

Retired Wayne County prosecutor William Cahalan turned racing commissioner was next out of the gate.

Then Dick Allen, Michigan's business ombudsman, delighted us with his tale of woe. It seems Dick had flown back to Michigan that morning from Boston on New York Air, minus luggage. "And then they gave me a little button that said, 'I heart New York Air' smiled Allen. So there he stood before us in his blue jeans and leather vest...unshaven to boot.

Allen, however, has the ability to win over his audience even if he were covered in mud or wearing a barrel. "We bring people together" Allen began. "We always take their side until we find out that it's different. Often, just like we're always sure the bank screwed up our account, but often we find that we have done it ourselves". Allen went on to point out examples of situations his office has dealt with to solve the problems of business.

"Don't be surprised," Allen went on, "that you can't find your way through state government". Allen spent four years in the House, eight years in the Senate, has a staff of nine with a century of experience among them and they still can't always do it. "Let us do it for you, we're willing to help," Allen concluded.

Thanks to special arrangements by Senate Majority Leader John Engle, we were able next to visit the Senate Chamber, sit in the otherwise empty room and hear what's happening in the land of the Senate. I confess that I sat in Bill Faust's chair, but as I suggested in a note I left for friend Bill, I have no desire to trade seats with him.

The Senate deals with anything and everything from pending issues of grave importance to the safety of its citizens, to the financial stability of the state, to voting on a resolution honoring Howard Cosell. The Cosell resolution, we were told, passed by a margin of 15 to 13, close one Howard.

I expected to see broken scalpels and torn surgical masks after the medical malpractice march on the big house, but I found none.

We completed our visit with a reception at the Governor's home where we were greeted by Paula, flanked by security blue suits and security cameras. The governor's home, donated to the state by auto carrier magnate Stober, is fine for entertaining but not someplace I would like to live. I gather that it is not someplace that Paula enjoys residing either. The ceilings are about 15 feet high, except in the library, where Mrs. Blanchard told us the family spends almost all their at-home time. The Guy was there and was his usual, charming self, mingling and chatting with all.

My new best friend, I must confess, is a black labrador retriever named Abby. She is the grand old lady of Blanchard household. A stately 13 years old now, Abby has made a career of begging. If you promise not to squeal to Jim and Paula, I'll admit that I became Abby's cracker connection, supplying this poor, needy old doggie with a steady supply of fancy cocktail crackers. Of course I ignored the fact that I obviously was not Abby's first conquest-she does very well at her chosen career as is obvious by her slight, but pronounced midriff bulge. But, without a steady supply of crackers and such, I don't think this very charming creature could possibly cope with the daily dose of political rhetoric to which she is constantly subjected. I mean, what was I to do?

All in all, it was an interesting day in the Capitol city . . . I am grateful, however, that Scottie beamed us back at the end of the day to our own reality. Lansing seems like a nice place to visit but I wouldn't want to live there.

See you next week.

School aid Bill proposed

The House Education Committee has reported out legislation designed to safeguard against a loss of state aid to districts where school openings were delayed because of contract disputes, according to its chairman William R. Keith (D-Garden City).

Keith, who sponsored the measure, emphasized that "schoolchildren who have already been inconvenienced by delayed school openings should not be further penalized by a loss of anticipated funding and resulting program reductions."

"Normally," Keith explained, "it takes two or three weeks after school opens for a district to get its enrollment totally completed and thus qualify for its full share of state aid."

"The Legislature certainly has no wish to take any action that would serve to encourage prolonged contract disputes," he stated.

Roman--Overstreet marry

The Palmer Road Baptist Church in Westland provided the setting for the Aug. 30 nuptial of Denise Marie Roman of Ypsilanti and Gary Lee Overstreet, also of Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Overstreet

The bride is the daughter of Calvin and Myrtle Newman of Westland. The groom is the son of Dennis and Rita Overstreet, also of Westland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of chantilly lace for the early-evening double-ring ceremony, officiated by the Rev. James Severance. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations and roses for the ceremony.

The bride asked her sister, Cheryl Frazier, to serve as her honor attendant. She wore a floor-length blue dress and carried a bouquet of flowers, made for her by the bride.

The flowergirl was Jaclyn Frazier, 8, of Westland, the bride's niece, who also wore a floor-length blue dress and carried a basket of flowers, made for her by the bride.

The ringbearer was Gary Roman Jr., 6, of Ypsilanti, son of the bride.

The groom asked Thomas Frazier of Westland to perform the duties of best man. Serving as ushers were Gary Allen Overstreet, 14, of Westland, and Andrew Riggs, 17, of Belleville.

Mrs. Newman chose a street-length navy blue dress for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of baby blue carnations.

Mrs. Overstreet wore a similar ensemble with a corsage of baby blue carnations.

A reception for the newlyweds was held at the Oddfellows Hall in Wayne, immediately following the ceremony.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Overstreet are both employed by Alire Plastics in Plymouth.

Hammonds repeat vows

The International Gospel Center in Ecorse provided the setting for the Sept. 28 wedding anniversary ceremony of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hammonds of Inkster.

The couple repeated their nuptial vows before the Rev. Charles O. Miles of the Non-denominational Church of Ecorse. The processional song was by Dave Mitchell with James Williams as the organist, and Wanda Boman sang "We Have Only Just Begun," with Tim Boman as the guitarist.

Before the couple repeated their vows, Mrs. Hammonds was seranaded by her husband, who sang "All of my Life," with William Lawrence on the organ. Evangelist Roy Ferguson read Genesis 2:21-24, after which Hammond sang "Bone of My Bones, Flesh of My Flesh." Mrs. Hammonds responded with "It's You," sung by Jerome Williams and Charise Miles.

Mrs. Hammonds chose an ivory formal gown, bordered at the hemline with satin, for the late afternoon ceremony. Her headpiece was of ivory lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of pinks roses with silver streamers.

Her husband wore a white tuxedo with pink cummerbund for the ceremony.

The attendants were Argelene Porter, Jean Wright, Sandra Mathews, Sharon Sykes and Elaine Gross, who wore tea-length dusty rose dresses and matching pill box hats. They carried rose-tinted carnations with silver streamers.

The ushers were Jessie Willis, Robert Sweeney, Roy Ferguson, Ronald Baker and Jake McDowell. They wore white tuxedos, with pink cummer-

chef larry janes

I can remember when pumpkins were big orange balls that had a couple of eyes, a triangular nose and a toothy grin that stretched from ear to ear. We spread out newspapers on the basement floor, cut a large circular hole in the top and Yuck! -started the "scooping" of the seeds that never tasted the same when mom baked 'em as when they're purchased from the store in 10 cent packages. (Am I giving away my age here?)

After we were covered with "pumpkin guts" to our elbows, we carefully pre-traced the facial design we wanted. For some odd reason, my pumpkin eyes were always a little crooked and most of the teeth broke as we tried to "push out" the cut form.

We could never understand why the dome lid always shrunk after being scorched with a candle. Speaking of the candle, can you remember a special ride to the five-and-dime just to get a small votive-type candle? Needless to say, many years passed before I realized that there was more to pumpkins than just jack-o'-lanterns.

The first time we bit into a persimmon, we thought our mouths would freeze into an eternal pucker. Why did a fruit that looked so ripe taste so bitter?

Ah-ha! Persimmons would be one of those tricky foods, like spinach, that all grown-ups would use to torture children into eating. Many times, I had to skip dessert because I did not finish my "C-ration" of allotted fruit or vegetable. I really could have cared less about how much better I did my eyesight would get.

Now, of course, these two autumn favorites have a permanent place in my cooking repertoire. Variety is my key. Pumpkins turn into hearty "stick-to-your-ribs" soup and a creamy smooth casserole with walnuts, persimmons make great jams, jellies and great breads and cookie-bars.

The persimmon season is relatively short, but since the puree freezes beautifully, it is possible to cook with persimmons all year round. Simply cut the fruit in half, scoop out the pulp, remove seeds (if any) and mash by hand or use a processor. Three persimmons will yield about 1 cup of puree. Be sure the fruit is very ripe. It should be almost red and fairly soft.

Pumpkins are available for a considerably longer period; anyone who has tried the fresh pumpkin puree knows that it has a flavor all its own. However, if you find yourself short on time, canned pumpkin is acceptable - BUT ONLY IN THE

CASE OF A REAL EMERGENCY'

Pumpkins and persimmons are as much a part of autumn as falling leaves and frosty mornings, and I'm sure these recipes will help you welcome the season with style!

PUMPKIN CHEESECAKE (serves 10-12)

Crust:

1 1/3 cups gingersnaps, crushed into crumbs
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine

Filling:

2 - 8 oz. packages cream cheese, room temp

2 cups pumpkin puree
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon fresh grated nutmeg

1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
4 eggs

Crust:

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Blend crumbs with melted butter and press into a 9-inch springform pan. Bake 10 minutes. Cool before filling.

Filling:
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine all ingredients in processor or mixer, mix until smooth or creamy. Pour into a prepared crust, bake for 50-55 minutes. Cool, chill at least 4 hours before serving.

SOUR CREAM PUMPKIN PIE

1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups pumpkin puree
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
3 egg yolks, room temp
3 egg whites, room temp
1 partially baked 9-inch pie crust

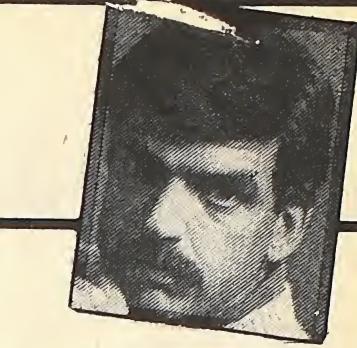

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix 1/4 cup sugar, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, salt and cloves in top of double boiler. Blend in pumpkin puree, egg yolks and sour cream. Stir over simmering water until thick, about 15 minutes. Beat egg whites with a dash of cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in 1/2 cup of sugar until whites are stiff but not dry. Fold into pumpkin mixture. Turn into pie shell.

Bake until top is brown, about 45 minutes. Cool completely.

PERSIMMON BARS

(Makes 30, 3 x 1 inch bars)
1 cup fresh persimmon puree (3 persimmons)
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 egg
1 cup sugar
1 cup pitted dates, chopped fine
1/2 cup oil
1 3/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter and lightly flour a 10 x 15 inch jelly roll pan. Blend persimmon puree with lemon juice and baking soda. Beat egg in a separate bowl. Stir in sugar, dates and oil. Sift together flour and spices into date mixture alternating mixing with persimmon puree. Do not overmix. Stir in nuts. Spread evenly into prepared pan. Bake until lightly browned, about 25 minutes.

Dust with sugar. Cool completely. Cut into bars.

PERSIMMON RAISIN BREAD

(Makes 1 loaf)
1 cup fresh persimmon puree
1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten to blend
2 1/2 cups flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1/2 cup golden raisins

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Butter a loaf pan. Set aside. Mix persimmon puree with sugars and eggs in a large bowl. Combine flour, baking powder and spices, blend into persimmon mixture alternately with oil. Fold in nuts and raisins. Bake until tester in the center comes out clean, about 1 hour. Cool in pan 10 minutes, invert onto a rack, cool.

Free testing

Area hospitals participate in Diabetes Detection Week

Western Wayne County residents will be able to take advantage of free diabetes screening tests and several are hospitals next week as a part of the annual Diabetes Detection Week.

The Michigan Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association will sponsor the free testing throughout the state in cooperation with more than 180 hospitals and health facilities.

It is estimated that there are approximately 600,000 people in Michigan who have diabetes, and 240,000 of these are unaware that they have it. The purpose of this drive is to identify these people and to alert them to the need for proper treatment.

The earlier diabetes is detected, the better. Diabetes with its complications is the third leading cause of death by disease in the U.S. Diabetes causes heart disease, kidney disease and blindness.

The testing is limited to those over 18 years of age and persons who have not previously been diagnosed as diabetic.

To assure an accurate test, it is important to eat a high carbohydrate meal, one with large amounts of starches and sugars, two hours before the test. A good breakfast to have before the test, for example, would be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea.

A person planning to take the test after lunch could have a bowl of soup, a sandwich, cake or pie for dessert, and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute time period and nothing else except water should be taken before the test.

The name and address of the family physician is needed for follow-up.

People who are over 40, overweight, and blood relatives of persons with diabetes are particularly urged to take the test since they are in the "high risk" group of those most likely to develop diabetes. The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirsts, frequent urination, blurring vision, constant hunger, or the slow healing of cuts or scratches. The disease, however, may be present without any symptoms.

Although a year-round effort is made to educate the public about the seriousness of diabetes, a more concentrated effort is made during the month of November.

On Nov. 11, from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. LIFETIME cable network will present "DIABETES: UPDATES '85." The two-hour live program, produced in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, and sponsored by Squibb-Novo Inc., will allow viewers to join millions of other cable subscribers across the country in learning first hand about the disease. Nationwide, viewers will be able to call a toll-free number --1-800-828-LIFE--and have their specific questions on diabetes answered by a panel of doctors who specialize in treating diabetes. Consult your cable listing for local time and channel.

For further information contact the American Diabetes Association at (313) 552-0480 in Southfield; (313) 732-3086 in Flint; or (616) 243-8477 in Grand Rapids.

Testing sites in Western Wayne County include:

--Annapolis Hospital, 35155 Annapolis at Venoy, Wayne, from 1 to 3 p.m. Nov. 4-8 in the outpatient laboratory.

--Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, 6245 N. Inkster Road, Garden City, from 2 to 6 p.m. Nov. 4-8 in the hospital auditorium.

--Metropolitan West Hospital, 28303 Joy Road, Westland, from 8 a.m. to noon Nov. 4-8.

--Heritage Hospital, 24775 Haig, Taylor, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Nov. 3-9 in the laboratory office of outpatient reception.

--Oakwood Hospital Family Health Center, 19130 Sumpter Road, Belleville, from 10 a.m. to noon Nov. 6-8.

--Oakwood Canton Center, 7300 Canton Center Road, Canton Township, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Nov. 4.

--Westland Medical Center, 2345 Merriman Road, Westland, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 5-7 in the first floor laboratory reception area.

OIL COMPANY CUTS SLACK FOR CREDIT CARD HOLDER !

Dear Letter Writer:
I have been having trouble paying my gasoline credit card. I wrote a letter, but they must not have received it because they sent me a letter back. Would you please help me try to straighten this out. I will be able to pay it soon, and I don't want my credit jeopardized or my card taken away. This is the letter they sent to me:

Sincerely, E.J.

Dear Customer:
We have reminded you several times your account is past due, but your payment has not arrived and no payment arrangement has been made.

In view of this, we have been forced to cancel your account. Please return our credit cards at once. Further use of the card may be violation of applicable state law.

Also, we again ask that you send us full payment, or contact us today to arrange an alternate payment plan. Unless we hear from you, your account will be placed with our attorneys for collection.

Please mail your check today so this will not be necessary. Sincerely, Customer Representative

Dear Oil Company:

Approximately 10 days ago, I wrote a letter, together with a partial payment on my account. My intention in writing a letter was to notify your Credit Department that I was having financial difficulties, resulting in reducing the amount of my payments, however, assuring your company that I acknowledge and recognize my indebtedness and set forth to my sincere intentions to remit the balance due soon.

I would most appreciate any assistance you may give me regarding preserving my credit rating. I anticipate paying the full balance in approximately 40 days.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely, E.J.

RESOLUTION: E.J. was allowed to retain the cards. His credit rating was not affected and he is now back on the "good customer" list.

DEAR INVESTOR, IN MY OPINION: The Federal Reserve Board may now feel that the financial markets have sufficient liquidity to allow them to slow the growth of the money supply. However, the large decline in M-1 in the last two reporting weeks (over $9 billion), which was caused by public spending, caught the Fed by surprise.

The Fed would seldom make such a bold downward move; a move that might disrupt normal market flows. The market must share this view, as interest rates have remained in narrow ranges. The market will anticipate that the Fed will supply liquidity to moderate the recent steep decline.

This anticipation will cause bonds and interest sensitive prices to rise; interest rates will show a slight downward bias. Gold and silver will trade in narrow ranges until Fed policy becomes clearer.

For this week, the short term traders will approach the market with great caution. They may see some advantage to some early session buying, but will be timid holders. Intermediate and long term traders will look for bargains in second tier issues with strong fundamentals.

For this week, I see the market-changing directions several times with little firm direction. Last week unusual activity; the market going up and the DOW index going down, is cause for concern! The market seems evenly balanced, but lacks leadership. At some point, takeover enthusiasm will stop, and stock prices will McDonald's Restaurants and local police are joining forces again this year to insure you have a safe Halloween. The annual Foreign Object Detection will be performed at local McDonald's Restaurants on Thursday, October 31. Inspection hours in Canton are from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at McDonald's 44900 Ford Road (West of Sheldon Rd) and 40241 Michigan Avenue (East of I-275). Van Buren Twp. police will be at McDonald's 2193 Rawsonville Rd at I-94 from 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Check with your own local McDonald's Restaurant for testing hours. You may be very glad you did.

Speaking of Halloween . . . they're having a bash at The Brass Connection, Thursday, Oct. 31, 850 Sumpter Road in Belleville. $100 worth of prizes will be given away for the best costumes. No one under the age of 21 will be admitted.

There are still lots of pumpkins available at Garden Fantasy 10501 Haggerty Road 1/4 mile north of -94. Giant pumpkins are $2.00 each, other sizes are 10$ a pound. They also have plenty of Halloween party supplies including table decorations, Halloween cards and gourds. One haunting question remains, besides decorating purposes: What are gourds good for?

Roll out the barrel, America's Polka king is coming to Belleville. Frank Yankovic and his Orchestra will perform at the PNA Hall, Sumpter and Harris Road, Tuesday November 5th at 8 o'clock. Admission is free with a cash bar. The event is being labeled as a "Victory Party" by local politicians for a better Belleville. Win or lose, it sounds like a mighty fine good time for polka people.

Meal Deal of the Week: Free Dinner at Angelo Brothers Restaurant 33550 Ford Rd. in Westland. On Monday and Tuesday nights through November 12th buy one dinner from the list below at regular price and get one dinner free. Dinner choice include: Spaghetti, Mostaccioli, Rigatoni, Gnocchi, and Fettuccine. All dinners include tossed salad or cole slaw, homemade bread, and meat sauce. Extra items are extra. Angelo's opens daily at 4 p.m. 427-1872.

See you next week!

Despite a 40-8 loss to Dearborn Fordson, there was one bright spot in that Belleville setback. It was the performance of senior linebacker Dennis Montie.

Montie was named "Tiger of the Week" for his outstanding effort on defense. The 6' 2", 205-pound athlete was credited with seven solo tackles and five assists.

Glenn one-away from perfection

WLAA champs travel to Wayne with playoffs on their minds

By KEITH DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Somewhere there is written a maxim that "defense wins championships."

Friday night, before a crowd estimated at 5,000 at Kionka Field, the Rockets of Westland John Glenn proved the old maxim true as Coach Chuck Gordon's Rockets turned back a highly-touted, upset-minded Farmington Harrison, 28-7.

As a result of their eighth straight win, the Rockets crowned themselves of the Western Lakes Activities Association in their very first year of competition.

"It was a tremendous victory for our high school and our program," said Coach Gordon who won his first out-right league title as head coach. "It's exciting to win the championship in our first year in the league and to do it against a name team made it more special."

In addition to the league championship, the Rockets took a step closer to their first appearance in the state Class A playoffs.

But before they begin entertaining such thoughts, the Rockets must deal with Wayne Memorial, their natural rival. That showdown is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Friday at Wayne's Elliott Field.

"Wayne gave Trenton all they wanted and Trenton is undefeated. That's all we need to know. They're (Wayne) a better team than their record indicates. We're going to prepare for them hard and give them all the respect they deserve. We're going to get ready to play a football game."

But first things first. Glenn entered the game on a roll, having scored 68 points in their last two games, and were putting their pedal to the metal. Farmington Harrison came to Glenn for the first time in history, hoping to put an end to such shenanigans.

And, for awhile, it looked like they might. Brian Smolinski, a 5-10, 155-pound tailback, picked up 14 yards on the first two plays from scrimmage. A pass from quarterback Mike Mack (Sr., 5-10, 175) to Rod Sarcevich netted 32 yards and had Glenn reeling.

But not this Rocket defense. Two plays later, Mack attempted a pass up the middle and Rocket defensive back Bill Grisamer stepped in front of it and set sail for the end zone, 80-yards away.

Earlier in the year, Grisamer had set a Glenn record for longest kickoff return for a touchdown, 80-yards against Farmington.

The point-after failed but Glenn led, 6-0.

Again, Harrison moved the ball down the field behind the running of Smolinski, who picked up 33 yards on the drive to the one-yard line. But the Rockets dug in again and denied the Hawks four times, and took over the ball on the goal line.

A two-yard gain by quarterback Steve Irwin netted some running room, then Boles picked up five yards to the eight. It was here that Gordon inserted his "Elephant Man" backfield of Rick McCurdy and Doug Streli for Boles.

Boles took the handoff on the next play, stepped around left end, and raced untouched into the end zone.

The 92-yard run was the longest jaunt in school history, eclipsing the former mark of 89 yards held by Mac Domke in the late 1960's.

"We wanted to get some bigger people in there in front of Tony," said Gordon. "This was the week we decided to go with it."

Harrison, trailing now 12-0, was looking a little shaken and their huge fan turnout sat stunned by the turn of events.

If their fans were stunned, the team was even more so as they quickly turned the ball over to the Rockets again and, on this night, that was a big mistake.

Boles and his backfield partner, Paul Beasley, took turns running the ball, then Irwin found Grisamer over the middle for a 19-yard gain. Two plays later, Irwin tried to connect with Grisamer but the ball bounced into the air and into the waiting hands of tight-end Rick Hassen for a 28-yard gain.

Two plays later, the Rockets were in the end zone again, this time on the Irwin aerial to junior receiver Mike Hammon. Boles' 2-point conversion run was good and the Rockets had a 20-0 lead and sent the media typewriters clicking away.

"The big lead helped but no one on our sidelines felt comfortable because of Smolinski," Gordon said, "and the fact that Harrison is a traditional power and won't lay down and quit."

But Harrison has been around long enough to know that a 20-0 lead is not insurmountable. An interception by the Hawks' Sean Norton on the first play of the second half got Harrison going. It was Smolinski who go the Hawks to pay dirt, picking up 32 yards.

"He's one of the premier athletes in the state," said Gordon of the talented senior tailback. "He does a number of things very well. He's the guy who we were concerned with all week in our preparations."

But Mack found Sarcevich in Big Romulus victory

Coming alive in the third quarter when they scored two TDs, Romulus (dark jerseys) turned back Dearborn Heights Robichaud 18-6 for what coach Norb Glover called "his biggest victory thus far". The Eagles wrap up the season Friday against River Rouge while Robichaud hosts out-of-conference rival, Muskegon Heights at 3 p.m. Friday.

Romulus
upsets
Robichaud

Calling it his team's best game of the year, Coach Norb Glover and the Romulus Eagles posted a stunning 18-6 victory over visiting Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

"This was the best game we have played all year," noted Glover. "We played as a unit, and I am proud of the way these kids played."

Robichaud got on the scoreboard in the second quarter thanks to a Michael Brown TD, but Romulus tied it at 6-all in the same frame as Tony Russell scampered 26-yards with a Luther Shannon pass.

Romulus scored the tie-breaker with the first of two third period TDs thanks to a Shannon-to-Jason Williams pass, good for 15 yards and the Eagles collected an insurance TD when Mike Ross raced 40 yards with an interception.

Last chance for Belleville

Ypsilanti Lincoln is Belleville's "last chance" for a football victory.

Lincoln will be bringing to town a "tough squad" and a 6-2 won-lost record, according to Belleville head coach Pete O'Neill.

"Despite their record, I expect to win this one. We're long overdue and I'm optimistic."

Belleville will host the season finale which will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Fordson put away the Tigers in the first three minutes of their final Wolverine A Conference game last Friday as the Tractors chalked up a 21-0 first quarter lead en route to a 40-8 victory over Belleville.

Mike Iquanella intercepted a Steve Ostrowski "busted play" pass and ran it back for a 45-yard Fordson touchdown.

Belleville averted the shutout when Dan Bradford capped a 60-yard Tiger drive with a 4-yard touchdown plunge.

Inkster runs 2nd at Class B regional

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It has not only been a record-breaking season at Inkster High School for coach Leavy Devoe and the Vikings' harriers, it also has been a historic one.

Inkster finished second to Dearborn Divine Child at the Class B regional championships thereby earning a berth for the state finals. The second place is the highest finish for any previous Inkster cross country team and it came in the wake of an unprecedented Inkster victory at the Suburban Athletic Conference championships.

Divine Child garnered 51 team points to win the regional title, while Inkster had 89.

"Off of last year's times and results, we knew that D.C. was the team to beat at the regionals," Devoe pointed out. "And I felt we had a good shot at it and we ran well, but we were not good enough this year to beat them."

Inkster's Kevin Eldridge led the Vikings over the 5,000 meter Orchard Lake course. He toured the distance in 16:32, finishing behind regional champ, Mike Talbusch, who was clocked in 16:26.1. The U of D senior set the pace for the entire distance.

The Vikings also had an exceptional effort from Daryl Swint, who hit the wire in 17:11, good for an eighth place. Teammates Charles McKay and Gerald McClendon finished 14th (17:28.6) and 17th (17:37), respectively. Gene Taylor rounded out the Viking scoring. He was 48th.

"I'm elated with our team for several reasons," Devoe added. "First of all it was the first time in our school's history that we qualified the entire team for state and also it was the highest finish for us at regional in this sport. Earlier this week we also won our first SAC title."

With Eldridge setting the History-making Vikings

After scoring an unprecedented victory at the Suburban Athletic Conference by winning their first cross country championship, Coach Leavy Devoe's Vikings finished second at the Class B regional run at Orchard Lake St. Mary's. That second place finish earned Inkster a berth at the state finals, a first for the harriers. Members of the history-making team this year include: Charles Henderson (first row, from left), Gerald McClendon, and William McLeod; second row are Charles McKay, Kevin Eldridge, Coach Devoe, Daryl Swint and Gene Taylor.

pace - he went wire-to-wire - the Vikings claimed the first three top places at their conference meet. Eldridge was clocked in the winning time of 17:11 while Swint was close behind in second (17:19) and Charles McKay was third (17:23). Also contributing to the Viking triumph were McClendon who was seventh (17:51) and Taylor, the eighth best runner in the league who covered the distance in 17:58.

late a team score. In the meantime, Cherry Hill, also a participant at the Orchard St. Mary's regionals, qualified one runner for Saturday's state championships. He's Bubba Zirkler who finished fourth in the field with a time of 16:41.7.

"I was disappointed that Rick Farley wasn't able to qualify (for state)," said Spartan coach Jess Shough who is rounding out his 20th men Field for their final Tri-River Conference championship. (The Cherry Hill School District will merge with Wayne-Westland after the current school year).

The Spartans are sporting a 3-3 won-lost league and a 4-4 over-all record entering today's meet. "I'm looking for us to finish third," said Shough, "but everyone and everything must fall into the right places for us to reach that goal."

Undefeated Southgate Anderson, with a perfect 6-0 record, is the team to beat while Thurston, a first year team in the league, should provide the toughest competition.

Earlier in the week the Spartans upset Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 24-31, as Bubba led the pack with a first-place effort of 16:57. Farley finished third (17:59), followed by Dan Decker, who was fifth (18:42), Robert Edgington, sixth (18:45) and Kurt Lindeman, ninth (20:05).

"I was pleased with the way our kids ran," Shough commented. "We need a similar effort at the league championships."

"...It was the first time in the history of our school that we qualified the entire team for state...and have won."

Inkster amassed 21 points for its first place finish and Highland Park, the dethroned champ, had 44. The two pacesetters were trailed to the ribbon by Ecorte (80), River Rouge (92), Willow Run (101) and Dearborn Heights Robichaud whose fifth runner didn't finish and therefore failed to accumulate a team score. In the meantime, Cherry Hill, also a participant at the Orchard St. Mary's regionals, qualified one runner for Saturday's state championships. He's Bubba Zirkler who finished fourth in the field with a time of 16:41.7.

Cherry Hill returns to conference competition this afternoon when the Spartans travel to Riverview Fire-

Glenn 3rd best at regional

Although they finished third at the Class A regional staged at Royal Oak Kimball, Westland John Glenn's girls' cross country team won't be making the trip to Flint for the state finals.

The first three teams at each regional usually qualifies for state. There is a stipulation - there must be at least nine teams or more that finish the regional. At Kimball, eight teams had qualifying times.

"It's disappointing," said Glenn Coach Dick Gordon. "We thought we were going to qualify, but two teams didn't have fifth runners finish and the minimum eight and not the necessary nine teams scored, therefore, we were eliminated from qualifying for state."

classified Dan Liedel who finished seventh in 16:40.

Wayne Memorial will be represented at the state tournament by Ron Tolson, who had the third best regional time (16:20) and Bret Thirjung, who was fifth in 16:32.

Dearborn and Dearborn Edsel Ford wound up regional champ and runner-up, respectively.

Glenn also qualified Dan Liedel who finished seventh in 16:40.

Liedel was named all-conference crossing the finish line fifth.

Opp led wire-to-wire to win the conference individual crown thanks to a 20:14 performance and Rowland was, named an all-division runner after she toured the distance in 21:36 for a 13th place finish.

the end zone for the touchdown, and with the point-after, trailed only 20-7.

Glenn fans began biting their nails and Hawk fans began screaming louder as another interception, this time by Todd Gardner, got the Hawks closer again.

But the Rocket defense stood up to the challenge. On third and 10, Don Croft put enough pressure on the quarterback to force an incomplete pass, then Paul Pomorski sacked Mack for a 10-yard loss and forced Harrison to punt.

"Our defense played well all year," said Gordon. "Two things were important in this game: to contain Smolinski and the tremendous goal-line stand early in the game helped."

An interception by Grisamer stopped another Hawks' drive in the fourth quarter.

Then began the drive that would put the game away. With Boles picking up 78 yards, the Rockets milked the clock.

Boles picked up five first downs himself as he drove the Hawk defenders back, and in some cases, put cleat marks in their jerseys. On the drive, Boles became Glenn's all-time leading ground-gainer. His 244 yards on the evening gave him 1,107 yards, surpassing Todd Jennings' 1071 set in 1982.

"No question in my mind that Tony played his finest game at John Glenn," Gordon said. "The thing that was exciting about it was that it was against great competition and in a big game."

It was finally Irwin who scored and Boles added the two-point conversion to put Glenn ahead, 28-7.

But it was the defense that put the icing on the cake and the championship trophy in the Rockets' hands when Ron Keast intercepted a Mack pass and returned it nine yards.

Earlier in the week, the JV Rockets crowned themselves WIAA champions with a 14-0 victory over Harrison as Don Sprinkle led the way.

Undefeated Rockets clash with Wayne Jv's

Although the main attraction is Friday night at Wayne Memorial where undefeated Westland John Glenn puts an eight-game winning streak and post-season playoff hopes on the line, the Glenn-Wayne Fall Classic isn't the only game featuring an undefeated team.

On Thursday at 7 p.m., Glenn's undefeated junior varsity will host their natural rival, Wayne, which is boasting a 7-1 record.

Wayne is quarterbacked by Ron Wojewski. The offensive

Ex-Wayne star shines at Schoolcraft

A former Wayne Memorial volleyball star is shining as a member of the Schoolcraft College team. She's Kathy McIntosh who helped the Zebras at Wayne capture a state title.

McIntosh is successfully making the transition from setter to outside power hitter and defensive specialist, according to Schoolcraft coaches.

As an outside hitter, Kathy often surprises the opposition with how powerful her line-drive attacks are - she has 116 kills in 325 attempts with only 37 errors. Defensively, she has 202 digs to her credit, (a dig is a successful pass of a spiked ball) and she currently leads the team in service reception at 89.5 percent.

Kathy's improvement from the beginning of the season to the present has been the result of a lot of hard work and discipline on her part. "If Kathy keeps improving the way she has been then it will be very likely that we will reach one of our goals, which is to qualify for the national tournament," the coaches noted.

Schoolcraft is presently riding the crest of a 27-7 over-all record and a 4-0 conference mark. The coaches are looking for an even better performance from McIntosh in her sophomore year as she continues to develop in all phases of the game.

dan's dogs

by dan a. morris

Editor's note: Dan Morris has been a professional dog trainer for more than 20 years and has worked in all phases of dog training. If you have a specific problem, his advice is available by writing to him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184. He will reply in this column.

A dog digs in the backyard, because he is left outside for too long a period of time without supervision.

Those of you who have been following my columns remember my disapproval of any dog being left in the yard for any length of time without his owner. Along with other problems, far more detrimental to the dog, is the problem of digging. Not all of us want an in-ground pool. Yet our pet is capable of digging that much when left alone. He has to do something to pass the time of day. If he's not barking, he's digging.

Obviously an immediate remedy for a hole-digging dog is to keep the dog indoors. For those of you who are unwilling to do that, there are some temporary – and I emphasize temporary – measures to try to break the dog's digging routine.

First, purchase some medium-sized balloons. (You will use enough balloons to place one in each crater the dog has dug.) Fill the balloons with a mixture of one part ammonia to three parts water. Rub the top of the balloon with moist dog food or cream cheese and bury the balloon. When the dog smells the food rubbed on the balloon he will begin digging at it, bursting the balloon in the process. When the balloon breaks, the dog will inhale the ammonia fumes. The last thing he'll want to do is dig there again. (Consult your veterinarian on the correct ammonia/water ratio for your size dog and the proper treatment should the mixture splash in the dog's eyes.) Many people believe that tying the dog, face down into the hole will cure the dog of digging again. In my opinion, this is inhumane, cruel treatment and accomplishes nothing!

Another method is the purchase of a "Daisy" Brand, spring-action bee-bee rifle. Now this alternative sounds worse than it really is, but the instructions for its use must be as follows:

Remove the spring and stretch it. Take a piece of card-

County 'lands' federal jobs training grant

Wayne County Executive William Lucas has announced that a $1.5 million federal grant has been awarded to Wayne County.

The funds will be used to augment existing funds and provide job opportunities for approximately 1,000 persons in the county over the next 18 months.

The U.S. Department of Labor grant will be used for Industry-Based Training (IBT), an innovative employment-generating program developed and administrative by the Private Industry Corporation of Wayne County.

"The grant represents a strong endorsement of our IBT concept that combines the expertise and resources of the private and public sectors to help economically disadvantaged and dislocated workers find jobs," Lucas said. "IBT's effectiveness is illustrated in the current Republic Airlines expansion which has resulted in 750 persons being trained for jobs under the business-government partnership."

The $1.5 million grant was more than half of the entire amount awarded in Michigan under Discretionary Title III funding, and the largest individual grant in the total eight-state allocation.

"This takes on added significance when you consider that the awards were competitive in nature, with the best programs receiving the top dollars," Lucas said. "Wayne County and southeast Michigan can take pride in making the Job Training Partnership work."

Barry T. Hawthorne, executive director of the Private Industry Corporation, said the $1.5 million will supplement nearly $1 million already available for Industry-Based Training, including a recent $200,000 Michigan Job Training Coordinating Council grant.

"These funds will be put to maximum use in providing job opportunities for those needing employment the most," Hawthorne said. "Employment efforts will be targeted at the airline, automotive, steel and service industries."

Under the Industry-Based Training concept, the Private Industry Corporation works closely with employers to determine their needs and then customizes recruitment, training and other services to provide them with a trained, skilled work force.

Belleville Business and Professional Women honor club presidents at outing

It was a celebration! Sophie and Pam Zoller entertained the past-presidents and members of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club with a social "Hobo" outing on Saturday, Sept. 7.

As the guests arrived at the Haggerty Road residence of the Zollers, Todd O'Neil was prepared to serve a great variety of cold beverages to combat the high heat (90 degrees) of the day.

The happy occasion was also a significant anniversary to recognize the 38 years the Belleville BPW has been in existence. The huge poster of welcome was prepared by Pam Zoller, indicating the charter date of the club to be - Sept. 8, 1947.

Members enjoyed looking at the various scrap books, pictures, trophies and other memorabilia that were on display. The rare collection had been accumulated over the 38 years, of the club's participation in the many, community, educational and health projects.

During the social hour, the "Hobo" dinner was slowly simmering in a large cauldron containing three different meats and six vegetables. Harry Zoller kept the wood fire blazing under the boiling pot. Following dinner, Sophie presented four Membership Certificates to the past-presidents with 35 years plus of service to Belleville BPW, including

Said project plan details all information required by law relative to said project and its impact on the community. No persons will be displaced from the project area as a result of this project. Said project plan also proposes the issuance of revenue bonds by said Economic Development Corporation in a maximum principal amount not to exceed $525,000 to assist in the financing of said project.

The City Council will meet at 7:30 o'clock P.M., Monday, the 25th day of November, 1985, at the City of Romulus located at 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, and will conduct a public hearing.

The public hearing shall consider the advisability of the City Council approving, modifying or rejecting by resolution said project plan and the issuance of bonds as proposed therein.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Sections 10 and 17 of Act 338, Public Acts of Michigan, 1974, as amended. The project plan and relevant maps or plats are available for inspection at the City Clerk's office.

All interested citizens are encouraged and will be offered an opportunity at said hearing to address the City Council concerning said project, said project plan, and the bonds proposed to be issued. Written comments may also be submitted to the City Clerk prior to said hearing.

Linda R. Choate, Clerk
City of Romulus

Doctor Study Proves

New Hi-Tech 'Super Pills' Give Faster Weight Loss

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S. No Dieting—Eat Normally

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—Good news for overweight people! If you want to lose weight fast, you no longer have to guess which diet product to use.

A recent clinical weight loss study was conducted by a panel of medical doctors in California on groups of overweight people to determine which of the five most popular weight loss products was the most effective. One product, the amazing new "hi-tech super pills" proved to be vastly superior to all the others tested in the study and even gave almost "3 times faster" weight loss than the famous grapefruit diet pills.

All Lost up to 1 lb. Per Day

Best of all, the pills allow you to "continue to eat all of your favorite foods without changing your normal eating or exercising habits and still lose weight easier and faster than ever before, starting immediately." The manufacturer "guarantees" it. Remarkably, ALL people in the new "hi-tech" super pills clinical test group lost weight (an average of $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. per day up to 1 lb. per day or the equivalent of 15 to 30 lbs. per month.) It also helps eliminate bloat and puffiness.

"Pills Do All the Work"

According to the clinical study, "the pills alone do all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO special exercise, and NO hunger pangs." You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

Powerful Appetite Suppressants

The new pills contain a powerful clinically proven appetite suppressant that an advisory panel of doctors have determined to be "safe and effective for weight loss."

In addition, the pills also contain a remarkable calorie-free dietary fiber that expands in your stomach and tends to give you a partially satisfied feeling before you eat. Thus, the new combination of ingredients in the pills act 2 ways to aid in curbing your appetite, causing you to eat less, take in less calories, and lose weight without feeling deprived or hungry.

Pills Contain ALL Daily Vitamins

No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy because the pills are fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government USRDA recommended daily vitamin requirements.

The amazing "hi-tech" super pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these new highly successful "hi-tech" super pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $14 for a 15-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check or money order to: Hi-Tech Products, 717 Central Ave., Dept. W24, Kansas City, KS 66101. (30 day unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hrs. TOLL FREE 1-(800) 222-9969 ext. W24
